Mr. and Mrs. Cutler Brown recently sold their house in Redwood City and are moving to 680 Chestnut St., San Carlos. Lois, a popular newspaper woman, will still keep close contact with her many Redwood City friends.

Students from Sequoia High School flocked to the Times-Gazette office last week to see how a newspaper works. Observing National Newspaper Week, the students inspected teletype machines, linotype and press operations, and the editorial and advertising offices. They considered the trip a success, especially when the length of the tour caused one group to miss its next class.

A new veterans' organization chapter was founded in Redwood City last week, when a group of liberal-minded persons met in the law office of Jonathan Rowell (son of Chester Rowell, former editor of the San Francisco Chronicle) to form a local chapter of the American Veterans Committee, the AVC. Among those present were Rowell, Bill Spangle of the county planning commission office, Sterling O'Ran and Robert Berkely.

Two new industries may soon be started by Redwood City inventor Moldy Figaro. Figaro recently brought to the Gazette office two new brain children, which he hopes to manufacture here. One is a "unloseable golf ball," which has a Mexican jumping bean inbedded in its center. Figaro explained that when the ball is hit into the rough it will jump up and down in the grass, making itself visible to the golfer. As he chased the rather active ball around the office Figaro explained that the big flaw at present seems to be a habit of the ball of jumping out of the cup, and bouncing off the tee.

The other invention is a wonderful new shower cabinet. In the shower is a very large spray nozzle, and four handles. Two of the handles are for hot and cold water. The third handle injects liquid soap into the water stream, so the bather can lather without juggling a slippery bar. The fourth handle turns on a jet of warm air, so that after the shower the bather can stand in front of the nozzle and be dried without a towel. An amusing extra advantage, he pointed out, is a combination of the air and soap, which produces a shower of rainbow hued soap bubbles.

We suggested he invent a giant 6-foot tall, 5-feet wide hat, put it on, and keep both himself and his inventions under it.

We want to correct a typographical error made in our recent story about artichoke parasites. The artichoke chomper, dread scourge of artichoke husbandry, was erroneously referred to as the "artichoke chopper." We hope our readers will excuse the lapse.

The Mattei brothers of Willowside Farm, Pescadero, put on a demonstration of a new machine for spraying cattle plagued with heel flies. The demonstration was staged in collaboration with the farm adviser's office, and was held on San Gregorio Rd.

Awards in the livestock show during the San Mateo County Fiesta were made to Willowside Farm, Lindley and Brown of Pescadero, Neal Johnson, Frank Torres, and Johnson, Frank Torres, and Joseph Baptiste, of the Coastside. The Half Moon Bay Future Farmers of America received a beautiful trophy for the most representative display of livestock at the fair.

The Coastside Athletic Club, composed largely of players from the American Legion, showed a great deal of power when its new ball team downed Pescadero 6-3 in a debut performance recently.

A Successful Play

BY FRANCES FRYER

"Post Road" a mystery drama, with much comic relief, written by Wilbur Daniel Steele and Norma Michell was excellently presented Thursday night at San Carlos city hall auditorium by members of the San Carlos Community Theater under the direction of Joyce Cole. The responsive audience chuckled at the dry humor and thrilled to the dramatic moments.

Mildred Kemp, as Emily Madison, the New England spinster portrayed the part in a way which must have equalled any interpretation given by the actress Charlotte Greenwood on the New York stage. She was "real" as the prim but witty and human New England woman beset by the modern new world at her door. Her part was ably supported by Bill O'Meara as the hypocritical Rev. Wesley Cartwright. Both threw out their humorous lines to the complete satisfaction of the audience.

As a mystery thriller not too much should be said of the plot or character development so as not to spoil the play for the coming performances but in the denouement Emily cornered and "duped" by the "gang" rose to superb acting, while O'Meara cleverly depicted the gradual disintegration of his role. The dramatic moment at the end between these two gripped the audience as it was intended.

The part of George Preble the "henpecked" husband, who was continually trying to find a spot to play his radio, was played by George Greenleaf and Martha Stockbridge was his wife, May Madison Preble. Both were on the stage almost continuously and did a creditable job of their parts.

Sparkle and youth were introduced into the performance by the acting of John Wrentmore as the tough Brooklynite chauffeur and by Dan Sagehorn and Juanita Smith as Bill and Celia the handsome young couple. Wrentmore in his stage presence showed his previous experience in school and college plays. Julia as the daughter of a former "star" of the original San Carlos Players Club displayed inherited dramatic ability. Dan in the short time he was on the stage in the first act drew laughs from the audience with his humorous lines and acting. He was also the "voice" on the radio.

The character known as just "the girl" around whom the plot centered, but who was only on the stage at short intervals, Roberta Young, played her dramatic role well. Viona Duncan as the nurse was completely at home on the stage. She has appeared in numerous Peninsula productions. Dr. D. D. Henschel characterized satisfactorily the Dr. Spender of the play. The supporting cast included: Lorraine Brennan as Jeeby Cashler; Ray Salisbury as Willie Bunce; John Graham as Virgil Bemis; Jack Concannon as Jay; Helen Maxfield as Mrs. Cashler; Helene Shamberger as Mrs. Canby, and Sid Cowgill as the radio announcer.

A perfect stage setting of a New England interior, the Madison living room, with oil lamps, "what not" tables, antique furniture, old portraits and flowered wall paper, furnished the contrasting atmosphere to the rough life of the Post Road just outside.

Joyce Cole to whose credit a great part of the excellence of the performance goes appeared before the footlights for a moment to receive a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and the appreciative applause of the audience. Miss Cole is herself a stage and radio actress.

The 20 piece orchestra of the Community Theater under the direction of Pasquale Gianuario pleased the audience as it has at previous appearances. The rendition of Strauss' "Tales of Vienna Woods" with its lilting rhythm quite transported listeners, whose applause asked for more. Other numbers included: "Light Cavalry," Suppe and "Regimental Review" Underwood.

Stage manager was Malva Daniels; staging chairman, Bill O'Meara; lighting, Le Roy Nott; scenery, John McCormick; chairman, properties, Agnes McEachran; chairman, radio sound effects, Ray Salisbury; make-up, Don Stockton; costumes, Ray Salisbury; publicity, Florence Reid and Elmer Stockbridge; poster, Madonna Fulton; programs, Agnes McEachran. The business manager J. Franklin Reid addressed the audience between acts thanking them for their response and announcing another performance tonight and tomorrow night at the city hall at 8 o'clock.

Usherettes dressed in formals serving the three nights are Marion De Armond, Audrey Shaw, Madeline Notke, Nancy Nott, Anna Marie Boin and Cole Evans.

The campaign of Evans A. A Visit From Bradley

Gen. Omar N. Bradley said in Palo Alto Thursday the hotly disputed $200 ceiling for veterans' on-the-job training might be raised.

The chief of the U.S. Veterans Administration, center of a dispute with John W. Stelle, national commander of the American Legion, said he originally urged the $200 ceiling as a means of heading off cost increases which might have occurred if no limitation were imposed on the veterans' pay.

His remarks were made here during a visit to the Palo Alto Veterans Administration Hospital on Willow Rd.

"We felt the extreme cost of the on-the-job training plan might bring about an unfavorable reaction that would kill the whole program," he said in an interview with a Tribune reporter.

General Bradley's remarks came while the American Legion at its San Francisco convention adopted by a noisy vote a resolution censuring the Veterans Administration.

The Legion demanded a special congressional session to repeal the limitations on the veterans' on-the-job training pay.

The $200 ceiling may be too low, General Bradley conceded here. He pointed out that in California the level of wages is higher than in other parts of the country, while in other regions the ceiling is higher than prevailing wages.

Plans for the membership enrollment of the Sequoia High School Parent Teacher's Assn. were outlined at the executive board meeting held Thursday in the Girls' Club Room of the high school.

The letter states in part: "October is the membership enrollment month for the PTAs all over the United States. Twenty eight thousand associations are participating in this vast registration. Here at Sequoia it is our earnest desire to give every person interested the opportunity to join our high school association. The all-inclusive dues are 50 cents per member."

A Conclave of Lawyers

Recommendation of a constitutional amendment which would lessen the number of county courts was proposed at the recent 19th Annual Meeting of the State Bar Assn. at the Hotel del Coronado in Coronado. Dennis Hession was the delegate representing the San Mateo County Bar Assn.

The meeting, first since 1941, was devoted to committee reports and panel discusions demonstrating advances and changes in important fields of law since the last meeting. Most widely discussed was the "County Court Plan" which would substitute a uniform court throughout the state, with jurisdiction over matters now handled by several courts in each county. These courts would exercise equal jurisdiction and would be presided over by full time judges.

A conference of California judges was also held during the convention in which Superor Judges Aylett Cotton of San Mateo County and Andrew Schottky of Mariposa County, along with Presiding Justices Nourse and Peters of the Appellate Court of this district, took part.

S. Colclough, and former assistant head of the legal branch of the civil occupation forces of Germany and member of the San Francisco Bar, Herman Phleger.

Originally bred by the nobles of the Court of Weimar, Germany, in 1810, the dogs were seldom seen outside of their native land. They have proven themselves to be among the smartest of all breeds, and have won many prizes for obedience trials, and for hunting trials here and abroad.

They found that in joining hands they had something in common. About 15,000 New Yorkers trip the square fantastic every Monday evening on Riverside Dr.

FORUM LETTER

To the Editor:

Your paper has several times advocated the upholding of our Constitution by supporting the efforts of the Negro to attain the equality which that Constitution guarantees him. We, the Negro citizens of this community, have appreciated these efforts and the frequent fairness of your editorials.

However, all too often, your editorial support has consisted of "damning with faint praise." This was shown three weeks ago when you suggested education instead of legislation to enforce the 14th amendment to our Constitution . . in other words, damning with faint praise the Fair Employment Practice Act which appears on the November ballot.

It appeared again the other evening when you beggared the issue in an editorial titled "Emulating the Lynchers." By quoting a portion of a statement made by Paul Robeson and taking issue with same you side-stepped the main issue which is, generally, that of American democracy versus a Bilbo Fascism and, specifically, the federal enactment of legislation to enforce the 14th amendment to our federal constitution.

Why not quit weaseling the issue? Either lynching is wrong or it isn't! Either Fair Employment Practices are right or they aren't! The Constitution of this country, into which I was born, guarantees equality under the law equality of opportunity to all its citizens. Why not stand like a man on the principles of our nation and take a forthright position on these issues which are so vital today!

We, the Negro citizens of this community are grateful for the support you have so far accorded them. We would appreciate it more if you would stop giving us a pat with one hand and a slap with the other. Either the principles of our Constitution are worthy of 100 per cent support by all Americans, or you must have something better to offer. Do you?

A Christian Study

Thursday afternoon the first classes for the Fall in release time religious education were held at the Community Church and at St. Charles Church when children from the fifth grade through the eighth grade at te elementary school were dismissed the last hour of the day to attend this instruction. Parents' consent is required.

Through an act passed by the state legislature in 1943, this religious education was allowed in the public school curriculum subject to permission from the local school board. The school is to give regular school credit for this work and is not to conduct any classes in basic studies at the release time which would cause the child to miss any of his regular school work.

It was reported at a recent meeting of the county interfaith committee that many schools are offering classes in character building for those remaining at the school during this period. It also showed that interest in this education was rapidly growing in the Bay Area. In Woodside morning release time has been given and the majority of children are attending. In Hayward it was said 900 children are enrolled in this program.

The American Legion at its convention in San Francisco went on record this week as favoring release time education through the public schools.

In San Carlos, Mrs. Weldon Batty, assisted by Mrs. Lester West, has charge of the classes at the Community Church. Father James Doyle takes the work at St. Charles Church. The interfaith committee in San Carlos is composed of A. H. Sagehorn, chairman, Mrs. West and Mrs. George Lagomarsino.

This Week Honors Firemen

MENLO PARK — A fire-fighting demonstration Friday night, open house at all three of the Menlo Park Fire Dist. stations, talks by firemen at schools, and a Lions Club dinner honoring the three Menlo Park fire commissioners is planned for Menlo Park's observance of Fire Prevention Week, from Sunday until next Saturday.

Fog will be used to put out a real fire during the fire-fighting demonstration, which will be held at the headquarters fire station on Merrill St. In addition, firemen will climb up and down the drill tower above the station house, using pompier scaling ladders and life ropes.

One day during the week fire prevention will be emphasized at each school, Fire Marshal Edwin J. Wickstrom said. Firemen will talk to the students and also to local clubs and organizations holding meetings during the week.

"Fire prevention and agitation will be a failure without the cooperation of individuals," Captain Wickstrom emphasized. "The shortage of materials nowadays stresses this all the more. Many things, such as food and houses, can't be replaced."

Chief Cuff stressed the importance of citizens knowing the telephone number in case of fire—Palo Alto 4142. He said there have been two recent cases in which fires might have been restricted to about $150 damage have caused up to $5000 damage. In one case, a woman waited 18 minutes for the operator to answer to report the fire because she didn't know the number.

Both Mayor Charles P. Burgess of Menlo Park and Mayor James P. Howell of Atherton have proclaimed next week Fire Prevention Week in their communities, urging citizens to "give earnest attention to the observance."

Tea at Mrs. Cooper's

Newly appointed room mothers for the current school year in the San Carlos PTA were introduced at a tea given Monday afternoon by Mrs. H. E. Cooper at her home on Cedar St.

Mrs. Cooper, membership chairman of the San Carlos PTA, outlined plans for a series of membership teas to begin in October at which the room mothers will assist.

Miss Ruth Melendy, superintendent of schools, gave a brief talk of welcome to the mothers, in which she touched upon the contrast between the present overcrowded situation, necessitating double sessions, and that of 10 years ago, when the local school had a total of six rooms.

Assisting Mrs. Cooper in serving more than 40 guests was Mrs. P. H. Alcook.

Room mothers appointed for the year are kindergarten—Mmes. R. D. Miner, W. D. Schlitz, Peter Gillespie, J. T. Keefe, E. Schiel and J. D. Potter; First Grade—Mmes. E. B. Dixson, Claude Stevens, O. H. A Shocking Crime

Burglars last night took approximately $500 in cash from Migge's Market, Lomita Park, and rifled a number of packages in the adjoining postoffice section, Postmaster Bruce D. Freeman reported Thursday.

Besides taking the cash, which amounted to between $400 and $500, and 150 cartons of cigarets from the store, the thieves broke open several packages and tried to gain entrance into the safe in the postoffice section, Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said.

The safe had been tipped over on its side onto a suitcase to deaden the noise, and a meat cleaver had been used in trying to pry the door open.

Investigating the robbery are Charles Paffenberger, chief postal inspector in the San Francisco postoffice, and Dep. Sheriffs Jack O'Brien, Milton Minehan, Don Hartnett and Leo Bunnes.

Valota Road Is Closed

City Engineer Don S. Wilson announced Saturday the Vera Ave.-Valota Rd. intersection had been closed while new paving is installed. He said that cross town motorists would have to detour via Roosevelt Ave., Fulton St and Jefferson Ave.

Within a week, he estimated, a one-way path will be opened, but that will be closed when contractors are ready to pour paving. The entire job will be completed within a month.

Belmont Is Growing

Permits for buildings valued at $72,000 were issued in Belmont during the month of September. The entire sum represents nine homes, according to Bldg. Insp. John Smith.

The September figure is considerably lower than those of other summer months, Smith said.

San Carlos Boy Scouts

Taking part in the Redwood City Community Chest parade last week were members of Boy Scout Troop 154 of San Carlos. Participating were Joe Smith, Kent Holmes, Gordon Gibbons, Don Bolz, Bill Macaulay and Ferrel Jones.

Wilson Wyatt's Speech

Wilson W. Wyatt, national housing expediter, faced more than 300 of his most severe critics—private home builders—in San Mateo Wednesday night, and his defense of his program left them praising his technique but questioning his methods and philosophy.

These were the major points made by Wyatt in his speech at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel to the Northern California Council of Home Builders Assn.:

1. California has the greatest housing problem in the U. S.

2. This problem, which has grown over the past 15 years, cannot be waved away with a magic hand.

3. But more and more materials are being diverted into private home building channels.

4. Production of building materials in short supply is rapidly increasing.

5. And the greatest part of materials needed for the public housing program already has been taken out of the market, so builders will in a short time no longer feel this government competition for materials.

"With production on the way, and with steps taken recently to channel more materials to the home industry, there is every reason to be optimistic about the housing program," he summarized, pointing out that many more homes will be completed in the last four months of this year than were finished in the first eight months of the year.

Wyatt called for co-operation from the builders, saying that despite improving trends in material production, "we face a serious problem which we can lick only by working jointly and can't lick working separately."

Shaking heads, on the part of contractors and builders present, and post-meeting comments by such Peninsula builders as David D. Bohannon and Frank Burrows, indicated that the contractors were impressed with Wyatt's personality, quick mind and speaking ability, but that they feel he is too much interested in permanent public housing to the detriment of private home building.

Builders present represented the Peninsula General Contractors and Builders Assns. and various home builders' associations of San Francisco, Alameda, Marin, Contra Costa and Marin Counties.

Carl L. Gellert of San Francisco, chairman of the dinner, introduced Wyatt in a talk in which he described home building as an "ulcer factory," and in describing the government's policy as "giving us less money to build fewer houses."

Maurice Read of Berkeley served as moderator to the question and answer period—marked by some barbed and hostile questions from builders over the government control of materials—which followed Wyatt's talk.

Wyatt's only mention of the Federal Public Housing Administration stockpile at Redwood City—which county builders have accused of hoarding vast amounts of needed supplies—was that he believed that originally the depot had accumulated excessive supplies, but that is not so now.

They'll Hold a Meeting

The Coast Guard League Peninsula Chapter 1 will hold its first public function Friday night, Oct. 18, with a bridge and whist party to be held at the city hall auditorium at 8 o'clock. Thomas Leach is general chairman. All members will appear in uniform.

Those on the card party committee include Howard Walzer, San Mateo, comander of the League, Al Sagenorn, Gale Laughlin, George Sheridan, Rudy Thuor, Jim Rae, San Carlos; Leon Strauss, Redwood City, and Alfred H. Moore, San Bruno. Tickets for the party may be obtained from committee members or at the door.

A San Carlos Charity

A call is being issued by C. A. Phelan, heading the local Community Chest drive, for former block wardens and block matrons to come to the fore and help put over the campaign which started Oct. 1 for funds in San Carlos.

"If everyone of these people would help," Phelan said Thursday, "the goal of $7500 could easily be reached."

There has been a fine response, Phelan said, from city organizations to head the drive in the different precincts but they need helpers badly. Also, the district west of the Alameda de las Pulgas is without workers, he said. Anyone wishing to volunteer may contact Phelan at S.C. 962 or Mrs. Howard Iams, local secretary at S.C. 721.

Phelan point out that while the war is over much of the work of the organizations benefiting from the Community Chest still feel the effect of war's aftermath. And more funds than ever are needed. He therefore considers a response from these former wartime workers as appropriate.

San Mateo County groups which will benefit from Chest funds are San Mateo Blood Bank, San Mateo Preventorium, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Young Men's Christian Assn., San Mateo County Catholic Social Service and the Social Service Exchange.

Organizations in San Carlos manning districts are Athletic Club, Order of Eastern Star, American Legion Auxiliary, American Legion, Masonic Club, Carlosians, Boy Scout mothers, Girl Scout leaders, Holy Name Society, Junior Matrons, Community Club, Lions Club and Parent-Teacher Assn.

The Policemen's Ball

With half their tickets accounted for, Redwood City police Friday sold $1900 worth of ducats to the Oct. 12 Peninsula Police Officers Assn. ball.

To be staged at the Bay Meadows club house, the dance will benefit the association widows and orphans fund. Two bands, one modern and one old style, will play for the outing.

Ted Moudakas, Redwood City officer in charge of ticket sales, said half of the tickets mailed to homes had already been returned with cash.

Miss Melendy Is Away

Miss Ruth Melendy, superintendent of schools in San Carlos, is attending a conference in San Diego of school superintendents. She expects to return the first of next week.

They'll Live Here

Following a honeymoon in the southern part of the state, the new Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Costa, the former Bernice Hinkley, are making their home in Redwood City.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Hinkley of Redwood City, who until a few months ago resided in Palo Alto.

The couple's wedding was solemnized at the First Methodist Church here recently with the Rev. Jesse Lacklen officiating. Bernice, given in marriage by her grandfather, John Tiesler, wore a white lace gown and veil. Her bouquet consisted of a cluster of orchids fastened on her Rainbow Bible.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Dan Kienitz sang two selections. Vernon Conley was best man and Mrs. Louis Anderson acted as matron of honor. Connette Keinitz was flower girl and Jimmy Jensen, ring bearer. Warren Smith and Bob Silvers seated the guests.

A reception in the social hall of the church followed. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Petersen of Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DeSparr of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. James Munson of Oakland, Dr. and Mrs. Sam H. Tiesler of Sanger and Mrs. Anna Hines of Montana.

Orchids for Mrs. Bailey

A corsage of five Hawaiian orchids was worn by Miss Mercedes MacLean of Honolulu, when she became the bride of Charles D. Bailey in an informal ceremony performed by the Rev. Jesse Lacklen of the First Methodist Church at his home Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

The bride-elect, who arrived five days ago by Clipper from Hawaii, where she was born and raised, wore a light blue suit with navy accessories.

Mrs. R. D. Mitchell of Redwood City was her honor attendant. She was in a black dress and she also wore a corsage of Hawaiian orchids. Mr. Mitchell performed best man duties.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the Villa Chartier. The newlyweds will honeymoon at Catalina Island, after which they will make their home in Brisbane.

The bridegroom is a flight crew member in the overseas division of United Air Lines. It was on his trips overseas that he met his future bride. Prior to his employment, he served for four years as an officer in the infantry.

Some Woodside Facts

With the enrollment of the Woodside School growing by leaps and bounds it was necessary during the Summer to remodel the auditorium into two modern classrooms. There are now four classrooms, which will have to suffice until the new school building can be constructed, it was announced.

At the close of the spring term, the enrollment was 97. Now with the fall term underway the total enrollment has jumped to 123.

Two newcomers to the teaching staff this term are Mr. William S. Herbig and Mrs. Kathleen Hollitz. Mrs. Fay Huyck, Miss Catherine Ahlert and Mrs. Helen Huebner complete the faculty.

Mr. Herbig, principal, also teaches the 7th and 8th grades. A returned veteran of World War II he formerly taught at Susanville in Lassen County. During the war he was commanding officer of a base radio station in England and was connected with the Office of Strategic Service, better known as the OSS.

Mrs. Hollitz comes to Woodside from Flint, Mich., where she has had experience teaching the primary and 3rd and 4th grades.

A full program is planned for the coming year and the Woodside PTA will sponsor room mothers' teas in the near future enabling parents of all students to become acquainted with the faculty.

Total monthly payments of $56,492 are being made to 2530 residents of San Mateo County for Old Age Insurance and Survivor Insurance benefits under the Social Security Act, according to Edward J. Foley, manager of the San Mateo office of the Social Security Administration.

A recent amendment to the Social Security Act, Foley also stated, provides for Survivor Insurance payments to families of World War II veterans who have died within three years after discharge. These payments are retroactive to the time of death, for those families who file applications before Feb. 10, 1947. After that date applications will be retroactive for only three months.

Miss Law's Strange Death

An inquest was held this week into the death of Patricia Law, pretty, blonde Peninsula socialite who yesterday was found dead in a car parked in a "Lover's Lane" in East Palo Alto.

Coroner William F. Crosby said several questions remain to be cleared up in the death, which he listed as suicide. Still puzzling investigators is the time of the 23-year-old divorcee's death and where she spent Wednesday night.

The victim is the daughter of wealthy realtor Herbert Edward Law of Atherton, and the divorced wife of Stanford P. Herzbrun, 28, ex-marine veteran of New Guinea, Saipan and Tinian fighting, who lives at 303 Redwood Ave.

Her body was found by A. W. Bryant, test driver for Greyhound Bus Lines, who was checking a prospective driver on the streets of Palo Alto. A garden hose led from the exhaust pipe into the interior of the car.

An autopsy performed Friday night by Dr. Herbert Clattenburg showed that she had died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The doctor made no estimate as to how long she had been dead when found.

The girl was sitting at the right on the front seat of the sedan. Her head was thrown back against a grey topcoat on the back of the seat. At her side were two books which she presumably was reading while waiting for the fumes to overcome her.

The car was found by Byrant at 3:15 p.m. Friday. Vernon Kell, a carpenter working one block south of the suicide scene, said he noticed the automobile at 7:40 yesterday morning. Dep. Sheriff Peter Bolich remembered seeing the automobile parked at the same spot about 11 o'clock the previous night.

Friends of the girl believe that she was despondent because of a divorce, which became final last month. The divorce followed the collapse of her marriage in 1942 to the man she had met several years before in Atherton. She was a student at Stanford University at the time of the marriage.

Her husband's mother, Mrs. Perry Herzbrun, said Saturday that she was convinced that her son and Patricia loved each other although they had not met since the divorce. Mrs. Herzbrun also blamed the girl's parents for the breakup of the marriage.

"Too much family," Mrs. Herzbrun said.

Her son was shocked at the news of Patricia's death, Mrs. Herzbrun said. Saturday, however, he reported for work at a local packing and transfer plant where he is employed as a truck driver.

After the marriage, Patricia moved in with the Herzbrun family here until she finished her studies at Stanford and while her husband was fighting in the Pacific. Upon her graduation in July, 1944, Patricia went to work for the Metal and Thermit Corp., South San Francisco, Mrs. Herzbrun said.

Patricia's father disapproved of her marriage, Mrs. Herzbrun said, and threatened to disinherit Patricia unless she left her husband.

In December, Patricia's husband returned from overseas and came home on furlough. A few days after he arrived, Patricia left his home and returned to her parents.

The following six months were spent in futile attempts at reconciliation, Mrs. Herzbrun said, and finally her son agreed to a divorce. An interlocutory decree was granted on Aug. 8, 1945, and became final last month.

During the past Summer Patricia was employed as a welfare worker by the Palo Alto police department. Mrs. Herzbrun said that her daughter-in-law had been a "fine girl" and that they had liked her very much.

While in Stanford, Miss Law had majored in French and this Autumn enrolled as a graduate student to get a social worker's certificate.

At the time of death, Miss Law was believed en route to her family home in Atherton. In the car was an overnight bag with personal articles.

Her parents, together with a family doctor, last night viewed the body at the offices of the deputy coroner here.

A Party for the Church

"Mrs. Gorse's Card Party" netted $985 when the Carlosian Club met Tuesday night at the city hall. This annual event for the benefit of St. Charles' Church was held last Saturday night at the school auditorium with a record attendance of more than 300 persons.

There were 68 tables of cards and many spectators, Mrs. Charles Gorse said. Present as guests of honor at the affair were Father James Doyle of St. Charles' parish, Father Timothy Case and Father Moriarty. The Holy Name Society members helped during the evening.

It was announced Tuesday a Winter Carnival would be put on by the Carlosians Nov. 1 and 2, with a turkey dinner to be served the second night. Mrs. Michael McDermott is general chairman.

Father Reegan of the Hanna Center for Boys in Menlo Park told of the work done there for the boys. Hostesses were Mmes. Walter Hennesy, George Lagomarsino, C. Chichester, Phillip Holly and John Chartz.

Offensive Conduct

James Dean, 47-year-old Menlo Park welder, was in county jail Saturday, charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old Menlo Park girl.

Dean was arrested Oct. 1 in Oregon on a fugitive warrant and returned here yesterday by Menlo Park Police Chief Jack Yount.

Bail is set at $2500, and Dean is scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing on Oct. 15.

Chief Yount said that Dean, who lived at 1425 San Antonia Ave., fled after a warrant was issued for his arrest. The charge stems out of violations which are of several years' duration, Chief Yount said.

The Union OK Hospital

Endorsement of the proposed Sequoia iDst. a month from Saturday, voted on by residents of the Sequoia Dist. a month from today, his been given by the Central Labor Council of San Mateo County, it was announced Saturday by Kenneth L. Bowen, campaign director.

Carl E. Cohenour, secretary of the council, advised Bowen that the labor group's chairman, John C. Healy of Redwood City, had been named as a member of the campaign committee, in response to an invitation extended last Monday night at the council meeting by Chester C. Armstrong, committee chairman.

Meanwhile, 28 organizations have been listed so far for talks by the Speakers' Bureau, headed by Graham G. Adams, in response to requests for engagements at which the hospital plan will be explained. Working with Adams on the bureau are Mrs. C. S. Gabert, Carl Brennan, Myron Harmon and J. J. Eshelman. All are members of the Redwood City Toastmasters Club except Mrs. Gabert, who is a former president of Toastmistresses International.

Talks have already been given to the Business and Professional Women's Club, Daughters of Union War Veterans, Woodside-Atherton Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home, Central Labor Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Canadian Legion, Woodside Parent-Teacher Assn. and Redwood City Eagles.

The hospital proposal, put on the ballot by the county supervisors at request of 5000 residents who signed petitions, is to create a district so that a hospital can be built in this area. If approved by a majority vote, the proposal will result in the supervisors appointing a board of five directors who will then select a site, determine upon size of the hospital, have plans drawn, and submit to a vote of the people a bond issue or decide upon other means of financing.

A Landmark Is Gone

A landmark on the Peninsula for nearly a quarter of a century, the old dance and skating ring auditorium on the Pacific City Amusement Park site, east of Burlingame, is being razed.

The building is the last trace of the large amusement center which was built on the bayshore in 1922. The gates to the site were torn down earlier this year.

The auditorium was constructed at a cost of $37,500 and is being wrecked by an Oakland firm which made a high bid of $1500 to the county for the lumber in the building.

The county has not announced any specific plans for the use of the grounds once the wrecking of the building is completed, although the FPHA is constructing a public housing unit nearby.

Welcome Cyril Jasmin

Another addition to Redwood City's business community was announced this week when the Murray Studio was taken over by Cyril Jasmin, formerly of Portland, Seattle and New York.

J. K. Musser, until recently a photo-technician and movie cameraman with the armed forces, and Miss Wandah Shirley, retouching expert and colorist, will be associated with Mr. Jasmin in the newly remodeled premises at 2063 Broadway.

The Mosquitos Will Suffer

Richard H. Thomas started work this week as superintendent of the Pulgas Mosquito Abatement Dist., and will meet this afternoon with trustees of the district at the County Courthouse to outline his work.

Thomas was sanitary inspector administering mosquito control with the United States Army in the South Pacific Islands and the Philippines. He studied malaria control under the army at Brisbane, Australia.

Thomas, who replaces the late superintendent, Frank Gainer of Menlo Park, lived on the Peninsula prior to entering the army.

It is expected that the mosquito nuisance will be well under control next season. However, officials point out that abatement does not mean complete eradication especially if open receptacles which catch water are left around the premises causing breeding places.

Members of the district commission are Chmn. Dennis O'Keefe, Henry A. Beeger, A. H. Sagehorn, Joseph Belotti and Edward L. Eyre.

A $30,000 Sale

Property consisting of a stucco building housing a restaurant and land on the corner of El Camino Real and Millbrae Ave. in Millbrae was sold to Henry C. Moeller by James W. Findlay, records filed here Thursday show. The sale price was about $30,000.

Findlay, 65, is also the owner of the Silver Dollar bar in San Francisco and last week survived two desperate attempts to take his own life.

A Husband-Wife Arrest

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cunningham gave Redwood City police different addresses Thursday night but no other indications that they differ. It all came about in the 400 block of Birch St. when Police Officer Ted Moudakas came upon the pair whom he charged with being drunk, disorderly and noisy.

The officer attempted to reason with the couple in the interests of preserving the city's sleep at 2:30 a.m. but the net result was only that Cunningham, a merchant mariner, took a swing at the officer, Moudakas said.

It was his last swing for the evening—the next thing that swung was the door to the San Mateo County jail. Cunningham who gave his address as 1005 Vista Rd., San Mateo, was booked on charges of being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest. His wife, Patricia who gave her address as 1231 Fiori bunda Rd., San Mateo, was booked on a charge of drunkenness. The husband was released on $100 cash bail today and the wife on $10 cash bail.

Two Doctors Are Engaged

Although no wedding date has been set, friends are learning that Alma Helen Bracesco, daughter of Mrs. Frank Bracesco of Menlo Park, is engaged to Dr. Cyril Bryner of a well-known Menlo Park family.

Dr. Bryner is at present in Alaska, where he is head of the Slavic language department at the University of Alaska. He spent 11 months with the army in Alaska during the war.

He earned his Ph.D. at the University of Prague and studied three years at the University of Belgrade. Dr. Gergius Bryner of the Stanford-Lane Hospital in San Francisco and Leonid Bryner of Menlo Park are his brothers, and he is the son of Leonid Bryner of Shanghai and the late Marie Therese Williams Bryner. Most of his life has been spent with his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Williams of Menlo Park. Another aunt, Mother Louise Williams, was for six years superior at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park and is head of the San Francisco College for Women.

The bride-elect was graduated from St. Joseph's Academy and Dorothy Derm's School in San Francisco. She is the sister of Mildred and John Bracesco and Mrs. Frank Roach.

A mutual interest in medicine brought Eleanor Mary Gamboni and Dr. Rene Bine Jr. together and now the couple's engagement is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wal-Gamboni of Atherton.

Both Eleanor and her fiance are with the Mt. Zion Hospital in San Francisco, Eleanor having been graduated from the nursing school there last May. She is a graduate of Sequoia Union High School and took her pre-nursing course at San Jose State College. She is the sister of Walter and Rita Gamboni.

After his graduation from Stanford Dr. Bine, son of Dr. and Mrs. Rene Bine Sr. of San Francisco, served as an army doctor for three and a half years in Africa and the European Theater.

The wedding, which will be a simple affair, will take place as soon as the newlyweds can find a place to live. They hope it will be sometime this month.

A Brisbane Man Jailed

Troy Cotten, 39, of 113 Mariposa Ave., Brisbane, was arrested early Saturday on three charges after a headon automobile collision on Bayhsore Hwy. near Geneva Ave. in Brisbane injured three persons.

Those injured were Mrs. Lillian Odom, 35; Terezeno G. Valenti, 21, and Mrs. Mary Healy, 38, all of San Francisco.

Highway patrol officials said the accident occurred about 1 a.m. when Cotten's car shot out of Geneva Ave. into Bayshore and crashed into the one Valenti was driving.

Cotten's automobile was badly damaged, and some altercation ensued. After the argument, Cotten drove his car more than a half mile down the highway and when the damaged vehicle stalled, started walking, highway patrolmen said. He was arrested more than a mile from the scene of the accident.

Cotten is charged with hit and run driving, with injuries; drunken driving with injuries; and driving on the wrong side of the street.

He was released from county jail Saturday on $500 bail. Preliminary hearing on the cherges before Justice of the Peace Edward McAuliffe has been set for Oct. 17.

Chest Drive Continuing

The Redwood City Community Chest drive ended its first official week just short of the halfway mark towards a $30,000 goal, with $14,232.69 in the treasury Saturday.

The Lions Club unit won the honor of being the first collection team to surpass its total, turning in $164 for collections in Dist. 13. The quota set for the district was $160, and the report submitted by Phil Hastings, Saxon Downs, W. T. Langley, M. J. Robertson, Dallas Conine, Percy Smock and Joseph Goularte, of the Lions team is not yet complete, according to Chest Executive Secy. Mrs. Evelyn Carlson.

Contributions were received by A. H. McGovern, soliciting employe groups, from employes of the S. H. Frank Tannery and the Consolidated Engineering Co.

Next week the drive will continue in the residential areas, and Mrs. Carlson today urged all collection chairmen to turn in partial reports to her some time during the week. She is on duty from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the lobby of the First National Bank.

An Honor for Hatch?

Alvin S. Hatch of Half Moon Bay, a member of the board of supervisors since 1936, was reported Thursday in courthouse circles to be in line to succeed Edward R. McDonald Jan. 1 as chairman of the county board of supervisors.

The supervisors have never had a plan of rotating the chairmanship, such as exists in some city councils on the Peninsula.

McDonald was believed to be agreeable to the choice of Hatch as chairman of the board, if the other supervisors were in accord.

McDonald, according to courthouse sources, believes that Hatch is entitled to the honor after his long career on the board without having served as chairman.

Report to people waiting for telephone service

. . . Pacific Coast's amazing growth makes job bigger than ever

We are adding equipment and installing telephones just as fast as conditions permit . . . at a faster pace this year, in fact, than ever before.

But continuing shortages of equipment and restrictions on building construction have so far made it impossible for us to keep pace with the Pacific Coast's spectacular growth. Though we have already added more than 253,000 new telephones during the first eight months of this year and every bit of our equipment is working to capacity, there is still a big job ahead. You can be sure we are doing everything we can to get your telephone to you as soon as possible.

Thank you for your understanding and patience.

The Mayor's Proclamation

Oct. 6-12 has been designated National Handicap Week by proclamation of the President and by congressional enactment, and Redwood City's observance was set Monday by a proclamation issued by Mayor W. W. Hilton.

Chairman of National Handicap Week in Redwood City is Charlie Ward, blind World War I veteran and operator of a cigar stand in the post office.

No program has been outlined for the week, Ward said, but he hopes that business organizations will invite disabled veterans to their meetings to speak on the theme of the week's observance, "Hire the Handicapped—It's Good Business."

The text of Mayor Hilton's proclamation is as follows:

WHEREAS, victory in World War II cost us more than 2,000,000 casualties and

WHEREAS, there are many millions of handicapped persons in the United States, many of whom by their efforts were of great aid in manufacturing munitions or providing essential service for the war effort, and

WHEREAS, all of these persons including disabled veterans of World War I and II, and other civilians have a right to self-supporting, self-respecting jobs in which they can make useful contributions to our community, state, and nation . . .

NOW, THEREFORE, I, W. W. Hilton, mayor of the City of Redwood City, do set aside the week of Oct. 6 to Oct. 12 as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week," and I call upon all local officials, all local employers, a local civic organizations, and all citizens to assist in every way possible, to the end that it shall be brought to the attention of all members of our community that many disabled persons—veterans and other civilians alike—are fully capable and are performing efficiently, safely, and reliably in thousands of different occupations.

AND I FURTHER URGE ALL EMPLOYERS and the public to place all their job orders with the United States Employment Service, or call upon the agencies that serve the handicapped for services, so that disabled veterans and other handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove their value in productive and self-respecting jobs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Redwood City to be affixed.

Safeway's Writ Denied

Safeway Stores, Inc., were denied a writ of mandate to force the San Mateo City Council to issue it a building permit in an opinion filed by mail Monday from Judge Andrew H. Schottky.

Judge Schottky declared that he found insufficient evidence to warrant his alteration of the city council's and building inspector's refusal to issue the permit. The court was not justified to overrule such city affairs, the opinion stated.

The grocery store chain had come before Judge Schottky after the City of San Mateo refused the building permit some time ago.

Payments to Needy

Payments for aid to the needy aged in the county reached $63,734 for August, 1946, compared with $60,182 for the same month in the preceding year. Plymouth Guild

Mrs. Roy Gordon reported on the meeting of the Santa Clara Congregational Church Women in Santa Cruz, which she attended two weeks ago, at the regular meeting of the Plymouth Guild on Tuesday evening at the Congregational Church.

The church women attending the meeting noted with appreciation the redecorating job in the church parlors recently completed by Junior Guild members and their husbands.

The Prowler

ONCE MORE CONTROVERSY has broken out regarding the advisability of continuing the midnight curfew on the groggeries. Those who advocate extending the liquor selling hours until 2 a.m. argue plausibly that booze consumed on one side of midnight is no different from that imbibed on the other side, and so why not?

But that argument ignores some practical considerations. The post-midnight drinkers do not wait until the stroke of 12 to begin their imbibing. Most of the all-nighters have had a very advanced start before midnight arrived. Moreover, the drinking hours before midnight are long enough to enable anyone so inclined to become a drunk as needful for any celebration purposes. Adding two more hours to the bar selling schedule would mean increasing unnecessarily the work of the cops on the night patrols.

NEWSPAPERS FREQUENTLY run afoul readers of a suspicious type who leap to strange and false conclusions about editorial motives. "You have not run any editorials opposing this certain matter," some will say, "from which we take for granted that you are in favor of it."

Others say, "Because you have not come out in support of this proposal, we assume that you are against."

Thus we are adjudged as being both for and against the same matter at the same time, when the fact may be that the particular proposal is something about which we do not care a hoot.

It is the single-tracked mind that leaps to those phoney conclusions. Mr. A, being interested exclusively in some one matter expects every newspaper to give complete and unfailing coverage to all pertaining thereto. He can see no reason whatever for omission of even a very inconsequential story dealing with any development. "You have plenty of room for everything else," he argues, "therefore your failure to publish that story can indicate only that you are prejudiced against this cause."

Mr. A is very much in error in declaring that the paper had "room for everything else." He is unaware of the fact that the biggest newspapers in the world can publish, comparatively speaking, scarcely more than a spoonful of the news possibilities of any one day. The editorial job is one of selection, and selection involves a great deal of rejecting.

"But why did you have to reject THIS particular story?" asks Mr. A. "Why did you not leave out something else and publish this?"

Had the newspaper done so, then the single-tracked enthusiasts of some other matter would have argued in the same vein about their missing story.

You see how simple the job is.

In addition to the single-track-minded people who insist that it is the highest duty of the newspaper to espouse the causes to which they are devoted and to oppose the things that they dislike, there is another group that insists that a newspaper "has no right to take sides on any controversial matter." But if sides are not to be taken on controversial subjects, on what matters, pray tell me, could they take sides?

That declaration that newspapers have no right to take sides emanates from the critics only when the newspaper is espousing the side to which they are opposed.

Then there is another type of reader who, when a paper is neutral in any raging controversy, says, "I wouldn't care even if you were on the opposing side; I would rather see the newspaper take some side than be spineless."

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "I hope this is the last of it."

A Loss for Oakland

Charles R. Schwanenberg, 51, city manager of Oakland since 1943 who was considered for the post of city manager of Redwood City in 1942 upon the death of Charles L. Dimmitt, was found dead at his home Saturday night.

Funeral services for Mr. Schwanenberg have been delayed pending the arival of his widow from Minneapolis, where she has been visiting. His body was found by his daughter and son-in-law after they had been unable to obtain an answer to repeated telephone calls.

The family physician said death had occurred almost 24 hours previously. His heart had been weakened by an attack of pneumonia early this year.

Schwanenberg was voted the city managership of Redwood City at a council caucus session in 1942, but the next day he notified the council here the Alameda council had voted to raise his salary and he decided to stay as Alameda city manager.

He subsequently was named city manager of Oakland.

Mayor W. W. Hilton of Redwood City said Monday that Schwanenberg appeared "hale and hearty" at the League of California Cities convention at San Diego last month.

When the Woodside unit was organized in October, 1926, by Mrs. L. G. Owen, it had 14 members. Today, after 20 years, it boasts over 70 members and the membership drive to be held this month is expected to boost the membership even higher.

Speakers of the day were Mr. James Thornton, director of research at Sequoia High School; Mr. Sydney Herkner of the Community Chest and Mrs. B. D. Ralston, sixth state vice president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mr. Thornton discussed the propositions to be voted on in the November election. He urged all voters to vote yes on Proposition 3 and no on No. 13.

Mr. Herkner explained the Community Chest and Mrs. Ralston gave a brief talk on the Sequoia District Hospital plan.

Mrs. Ralston also presented Mrs. Willard Ambrose with her past president's pin. Mrs. Donald Feinhardt, hospitality chairman, was in charge of serving the huge birthday cake with 20 candles. Assisting her were Mmes. Oscar Resch, Ray Lindquist and A. V. Laustrup.

It's Fire Week

Mayor W. W. Hilton Monday proclaimed the week of Oct. 6 through 12 as Redwood City Fire Prevention Week in line with national fire prevention week observances.

Fire Chief Joseph Lodi announced that the city fire department would make special efforts this week to keep city residents informed on methods of preventing costly fires.

Maintaining that 90 per cent of all fires are preventable he especially warned housewives to be careful when lighting floor furnaces. Many such furnaces, he explained, have not been lighted all Summer and consequently have collected a large amount of dust and trash. When lighted, he said, they may flare up in a flash fire. Such a fire, he said, would last for just a few seconds and would not be dangerous unless housewives were close enough to the burners so that their persons would catch.

The chief also warned against throwing lighted matches and cigarets, against failure to replace worn and frayed electric cords, and against smoking in bed.

As part of its work in the week's observance, firemen will continue to check public buildings for fire hazards. On their list of things to be corrected are public buildings with inflammable decorations and accumulations of rubbish in which fires might start.

His Wait Rewarded

San Mateo police officer George McLean waited more than an hour Sunday morning for a burglar to return to the scene of his crime.

At 3:05 a. m. Wesley M. Crane returned—he'd forgotten his bag of tools.

McLean arrested Crane and took him to headquarters where he admitted breaking and entering the Filltop Market at Bellevue Ave. and San Mateo Drive, San Mateo, shortly after midnight.

Crane had pried the door open but left in a hurry when the burglar alarm went off as he approached the cash register, police said.

Mrs. J. I. Abbott, 448 San Mateo Dr., reported the ringing alarm to police, who found the burglar's tool in a "lean-to" shed behind the market.

Police found the rear door ajar and spotted the bag of tools outside. McLean began his patient wait which resulted in the burglar's capture.

Crane, who is 28-years-old, gave a San Francisco address and told police he was a machinist. He is being held for a preliminary hearing.

Due to grading operations on Valota Rd., the B bus will not be able to travel on that street, and persons living in the area will have to make connections either at the intersection of Jefferson Ave. and Valota Rd. or Roosevelt Ave. and Valota Rd., he said.

Martin said the temporary schedule may continue for three or four weeks.

A Grisly Discovery

The top half of a man's skull, presumably an Indian's, was discovered by Redwood City Water Dept. employes Monday morning while they were lowering a water main.

Lysle Winter, department superintendent, said the skull was discovered in an old Indian mound on Woodside Rd. between Hudson St. and Hess Rd.

Most of the Indian mounds in Redwood City were dug apart by Stanford University professors some years ago.

A Surprising Announceme

The announcement of the engagement of Phyllis Hope Wilson to Willis Arcell Blanchard, both of Redwood City, was a surprise to the friends of the young couple who gathered at the home of the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Wilson of Blenheim Rd. yesterday afternoon.

The news of the engagement was told the guests by Phyllis' father, who called on the Rev. G. A. Ray of Redwood city for a toast. Gifts were exchanged between Phyllis and her fiance. She received a colored photograph of him, and presented him with silver cuff links engraved with Chinese characters. Phyllis was born in Shanghai where her father was for many years connected with a large British firm.

Following an English custom, an engagement cake was cut by the couple after which a buffet supper was served in the patio of the home. Mrs. Wilson was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Samuel Hagan. Mr. Hagan and small son, John, were helping receive. The Hagans all came from Ireland recently and made the acquaintance of Phyllis at the San Carlos Community Theater group.

Decorating the front of the fireplace in the living room where the guest book was signed was a large bouquet of pink and white gladioli, a gift from Rev. and Mrs. Ray and daughter, Lindsay.

Phyllis and her mother and father left Shanghai when her father retired and were living in England all during the war. Firemen put out flares to stop trains and a tow car was called to pull the couple and their vehicle off the tracks.

Police Lt. S. D. Wood said he doubted police could make a charge of drunken driving stand up in court because the car was not moving when discovered.

Why Rebuild Tanforan?

Expenditure of $1,460,000 to restore the Tanforan race track in San Mateo County would be "terrific setback" for the veterans' housing program in the Bay Area, Lawrence C. Stevens, state director of veterans' affairs, charged Tuesday.

Stevens referred to a case pending in San Francisco, in which Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure has signed an order requiring the Civilian Production Administration and National Housing Agency to show cause on Oct. 14 why a permanent injunction and restraining order should not be issued to prevent the agencies from interfering.

"Race track—along with cocktail bars—certainly ought to fall into the absolutely non-essential category," Stevens held.

"During the past year," he said, "thousands of veterans' houses have stood unfinished while enormous quantities of vital materials were consumed in non-essential commercial construction.

"Now we have a race track operator going against public sentiment and the need for housing veterans and their families, who in many cases have no roofs over their heads."

A New Census Planned

A special U. S. census which may include all San Mateo County and reveal valuable statistics on its population, growth and such problems as housing was being planned today by San Mateo city officials and civic leaders.

Fred Sharp, assistant city manager, said the survey plans made so far are only for the city of San Mateo, but pointed out that it would be more economical to study Burlingame and Hillsborough at the same time.

San Carlos and Redwood City have also indicated an interest and Sharp said he believed city managers from all Peninsula cities would study the plan informally.

Principal reason behind the census move is that cities are losing thousands of dollars in state gas tax payments, which are made on the bais of the 1944 special census.

The Handicapped Work

It has been proven that practically every job can be filled satisfactorily by some handicapped people, and that handicapped persons are frequently more productive, careful, conscientious and reliable than their follow workers, according to a report by the Veterans' Administration and the U. S. Department of Labor Tuesday.

The statistics issued by these government sources in connection with National Handicap Week point up the week's theme—assisting the physically handicapped to obtain suitable employment.

They show that during the war, of 97 employers who reported to a questionnaire on absenteeism, 53 found it to be less for the handicapped; of 76 who reported on labor turnover, 63 found the turnover rate to be lower among the handicapped; and of 87 who reported on accident rate, 49 found it to be lower among the handicapped.

Other prizes will also be awarded. They will consist of free airplane rides for five people, autographed footballs and baseballs, theater tickets, dolls and candy, Batchelor said.

He'll Rest Now

John F. Stahl, 64-year-old retired Menlo Park postman who 11 years ago was struck by the "walking bug" and has tramped over thousands of miles since, has decided to give his "barking dogs" a rest, he claims.

Monday afternoon when he was greeted by Postmaster William H. McCarthy of San Francisco at the end of a trip from Trinity City, said he was through walking.

Included in Stahl's more spectacular trips are ones from Panama City, Panama, to Austin, Tex., 3700 miles; from Austin to Panama City, Fla., 1100 miles, and from Sonoma Mission to San Diego Mission over the old Mission Trail, 650 miles.

Stahl, who says he intends to settle in San Francisco, was at one time the object of an article by the world-famous columnist, the late Ernie Pyle, who wrote: "Stahl isn't just another nut out walking. He's getting something out of the downhill years of life. He isn't doing this for money or for fame, but because he wants to."

Advice to Greenthumbers

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

You've heard a lot, about DDT, and you might as well get a few quotes from the annual report of Allen B. Lemmon, chief of the California Bureau of Chemistry (Dept. of Agricultre).

"Experimental work during 1945 indicates that DDT insecticides show great promise for control of codling moth on pears and apples, and a number of fruit growers have expressed a desire to try these materials during the coming season. However, little information is available concerning the removal of DDT spray residues from apples and pears, and great care must be taken in commercial applications to apples and pears, to avoid deleterious spray residues at harvest. It would be of small benefit to a farmer should DDT enable him to grow worm-free fruit but make its sale impossible because of excessive spray residue."

"DDT should not be employed on food crops — unless it is required. In determining whether or not DDT is required, there should be taken into account the availability of insecticides that are less toxic than DDT.

"There is grave question concerning the propriety of use of DDT on such crops as leafy vegetables since safer insecticides such as the pyrethrins and retenone are available.

"No question is raised concerning the use of DDT on such fruits as apples and pears since it is less toxic than the other commonly used insecticides for such crops, such as lead arsenate and cryolite."

Chief Lemmon goes on to say that while one or two sprays with DDT early in the season on apples or pears shows a residue well under the legal tolerance of seven milligrams of DDT per kilogram of fruit. That's seven parts per million, and that's very little.

It was found on tests that six sprays with DDT during the season left a residue too great for safety. Also, the Bureau of Chemistry has streamlined the tests for arsenical residues as a great many can be made during a day, but it takes a long time to run a test for DDT. And what's more, the arsenicals can be cleaned off pretty well with a dilute solution of hydrochloric acid and a good water rinse, but DDT isn't very soluble in water.

From this we can judge that DDT should not be used on Victory Garden vegetables, and that the material shouldn't be used in the family orchard, after the blossoms have all fallen and the fruit is starting to develop.

You know, I feel sorry for some columnists. Have you seen the work of drama and movie and radio columnists who apparently see very little worthwhile in their subject matter. You wonder if this is really so, or if they think they look better when belittling the work of others.

Perhaps this gives them a superior feeling, but such writing gives a lot of us just a deep-seated pain. If a drama columnist, for example, is so easily bored by the mass of contemporary theatricals, he ought to get in some line that would intrigue him as well as his readers. Or if it's books, then he ought to face the fact that there are all kinds of readers, and only a percentage of them would buy the pieces which spark the columnist's jaded fancy.

Mrs. Lucie P. Callize says her husband worked in a mushroom plant at White Plains when he was 15 and had just come to this country. So he knows what it's all about and still wants to do some mushroom growing. There are mushroom houses in Redwood City and Santa Cruz, and the Chamber of Commerce in either place should furnish the names. I imagine they will sell spawn.

The Youngest Mahany

Little Linda Mahany, 2-years old, welcomed a new baby brother on Tuesday, when Mrs. Robert J. Mahany and Gary Wade Mahany, who was born last week at the Palo Alto Hospital, returned to their home at 1018 Vera Ave., Redwood City.

Paternal grandparents of the new arrival are Mr. and Mrs. H. Wade Mahany of San Carlos and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Springall of Atherton.

A few days before the arrival of little Gary, Mrs. Mahany was the honored guest at a stork shower given for her by Miss Betty Storey at her home at 370 Hillview Ave.

An umbrella of crepe paper held buffet style to the guests, who were Mrs. Elwayne Lawrence, Mrs. John Dusel, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Mahany's sister-in-law from Los Angeles; Miss Caroline Duncan of Oakland, and Mrs. Daniel Trojak, the former Edith Springall, sister gifts and refreshments were served of Mrs. Mahany.

Veterans' Welfare

Vote "YES" on Proposition 2!

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans urge you to vote "YES" on Proposition 2 on the November ballot.

This measure will legalize greyhound racing in California — under strict state supervision — and turn over 4 per cent of all track wagers to a Veterans' Fund administered by the State Department of Veterans Affairs.

It will perform a distinct service for California veterans. It will guarantee adequate financing of state-sponsored welfare and rehabilitation activities, including support of the Veterans' Home at Yountville. It will relieve the taxpayer of the burden of paying for these services; greyhound racing will pay the bill instead.

California veterans ask you to support them in this campaign.

Let's carry through - Vote 'YES' on 2

Proposition 3 will relieve the teacher famine in California by guaranteeing public school teachers a minimum salary of $2400 a year. Local taxes will not be increased by this measure. State funds are available for this purpose.

Two hundred California organizations, including the following, urge you to vote "YES" on 3—Republican and Democratic Parties, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, AFL, CIO, Native Daughters and Native Sons, and P-TA.

And remember—when you vote "Yes" on 3, be sure to vote "No" on 13, which would further reduce present inadequate school appropriations.

82,000 of our stockholders, or 61% of all our business partners, live in California. They are for the most part, men and women of average means, who have put their savings to work in this Company.

Their money helped build the dams, the powerhouses, the tower lines, the gas tanks and the gas mains that serve nearly all of northern and central California.

Their investment does more than make possible the distribution of low cost gas and electricity. It creates employment and aids the State's development.

Annually the P. G. and E. puts back many millions of dollars into the communities it serves, through payments for taxes, wages, dividends, interest and large purchases of materials in local markets.
